Closing Exercises of the Mt. Sterling Collegiate School.

The closing exercises of the Mt. Sterling Collegiate School, Miss Helen Chenault, principal, will take place at the Southern Presbyterian Church Friday evening, at 8 o'clock.

Miss Helen Montgomery's class in elocution will be very much in evidence in these exercises. The teacher is particularly proud of the efficient work done by her class during past year, and is as anxious as the pupils themselves to give an exhibition of their progress.

The class in English, the highest class in school, will be on hand with some admirable selections that will be beautifully rendered. Rev. Everett Gill is slated for an address to the young ladies of the school. There will be some good music from Miss Graves music class.

Miss Chenault began her school a year since, and at its opening promised her patrons faithful and careful service. How well she has kept her promise may be best gathered from the voluntary offers of support for the coming year and the enthusiastic praises for the work done during the current one. Miss Chenault has had efficient assistants in her school, and will in the coming session keep the grade of her teaching force up to the same high standard. There is this year no class of graduates, but there are in the higher classes some who can in the coming years be with pride presented with diplomas from this fine school.

A cordial invitation is extended to the public.

The excursion to Natural Bridge Wednesday, June 10th. Trains leave Mt. Sterling at 7 a. m. and return at 7 p. m.

A PRIEST'S THREAT.

Says That Catholics of Kentucky Will Defend Themselves.

Frankfort, Ky., May 31.—Father Tom Meyer, pastor of the Roman Catholic Church of this city, electrified his congregation to-night when he touched on the subject of the A. P. A. in his sermon. He said that war was being made on the Catholics and it was time something was being done in the way of self-defense by the Catholics. By direction of the Bishop of this diocese he said the head representative of the Y. M. I. in this State would write and try to ascertain the opinion of each Presidential possibility in both parties as to the A. P. A. movement, and that the Catholics should vote accordingly. He stated that a number of Catholics had voted for Governor Bradley last fall and had since found reason to be sorry for it.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

The Commencement exercises of the Millersburg Female College will be held at the Opera House in that city to-morrow evening. Miss Julia Haden Wyatt, of this city, is one of the graduates.

CRAZED AND CRUSHED.

Over 1,100 People Trampled to Death at Moscow.

On Saturday the czar had prepared an immense banquet with meals for 500,000 people at the Kulodjinskaja plain just outside of the city of Moscow in honor of his coronation. It is estimated that nearly a million people, mainly peasants, had gathered around the tables. The police regulations were inadequate and in some unstarred manner a panic was started. Before the wild mass of humanity could be controlled as many as 1,138 people had been trampled to death. Many more were injured.

St. Louis Desolated.

Probably the most destructive cyclone in the history of this country struck St. Louis on Wednesday afternoon at 5:30 o'clock. The track of the storm lay through that city and East St. Louis. As the mighty giant of the air came, it wrought havoc and destruction uncloud. More than 500 lives were lost in and near the two cities and the property loss will reach the enormous sum of $50,000,000. The great Eads bridge was very

BIG SNOW IN MONTANA.

Has Been Falling For Nineteen Days and is Now Six Feet Deep.

Missoula, Mont., May 25.—Snow falling so thick and fast that the eyes cannot see over 100 feet, with six feet of hard and frozen snow on the ground to the sight that greets one on the Coeur d'Alene branch of the Northern Pacific road, three hours' ride from this city, and in all that time not ten hours has passed in which the air has not been filled with the steady sifting cloud of flakes. There is not the faintest suspicion of spring, the cabins of the woodmen and miners and the little station on the divide are as completely covered as in the depths of winter. There never has been so great a snowfall in all this section as this spring, nor so late a spring, and the indications are that when the warm winds melt the masses of snow there will be floods that will carry away the roads, tracks, buildings and every thing that can be swept off the earth.

The young men and young ladies will have a great time on the excursion June 10th.

WATER WORKS.

What John P. Martin is Doing—Action of the City Council.

Mr. John P. Martin has perfected his arrangements for the building of a water plant here with parties who say they have the money to put it through, and work will begin between now and the first day of August. Mr. Martin has been doing all in his power to get this work under headway for more than a year, and as evidence of what he will give our people, we have only to refer to the excellent electric light plant, which he constructed here and the service our people are receiving. To the City Council he said: "I have spent thousands of dollars and have made great sacrifices in order to begin work, and finish the plant within the prescribed time." By an exhibit of his correspondence he proved beyond any question that he had not been idle, and because of his faithfulness and the proposition to him from capitalists, the Council, as a unit, granted him until August 1st in which to begin work and until January 1st, 1897, in which to complete it. In addition to this Mr. Martin hopes to add to this enterprise the construction of an electric railway from here to Sharpsburg. Mr. Martin is expected here the early part of this week with his capitalists, and no time will be lost in getting a move in the direction of completing both plants. In the event he contracts both these enterprises a large force of hands will be put to work and the weekly pay roll from now until completion will enliven business matters very much. The Council in giving Mr. Martin an extension held on to the right of the city. The right thing has been done and Mr. Martin has the opportunity of carrying into effect his plan.

Memorial Meeting.

The following letter has been received, extending an invitation to members of the Mt. Sterling bar to participate in a service to be held in memory of the late G. C. Lockhart:

"J. G. Winn, Mt. Sterling, Ky.—Dear Sir: The afternoon of Monday, June 8th, will be devoted by the Bourbon Circuit Court and the members of the Bourbon bar to the memory of the late G. C. Lockhart, and that time remarks befitting the occasion will be made by a member of each of the surrounding bars. We shall be very glad to have as many members of your bar present as can attend and will thank you very much if you will notify your bar of this meeting."

Off for the Mountains.

The ladies of the Mt. Sterling Baptist churches will run an excursion to Natural Bridge on the L. & E. (Kentucky Union) railroad Wednesday, June 10. Round trip—all persons 10-years-old and over $1; under 10 years 50 cents. Trains will leave Mt. Sterling at 7:05 a. m. and Winchester at 7 a. m. They meet at the Junction and the six coaches, without further stops, will be taken to the Natural Bridge, where the excursionists will have nine hours of pleasure and profit in the Mountains. This is one of the most picturesque points known to travelers and the opportunity will be the rarest of the season.

While at this place Revs. B. B. Bailey, of Winchester, and H. D. Clark, of this city, will deliver addresses. A baggage car will be attached so that individuals or groups can take their baskets and serve lunch at pleasure. The full bloom wild flowers, the braiding zephyrs from pine forests, the exquisite landscapes, the hills and the valleys in their natural dress will be enjoyed. The excursionists will have a full day in the mountains and returning will be at home for supper. Let every one who possibly can take advantage of this opportunity.

Deafness Cannot be Cured.

By local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There only one way to cure Deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube gets inflamed you have a rumbling sound of imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and the tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; also cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surface.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circular free.

badly damaged, the force of the wind snapping and twisting the mighty iron girders as if they had been hempen cords. It was near supper time when the storm came and many families were gathered in their homes. In several cases reported whole families perished. Again in East St. Louis several hotels with a fair complement of guests were destroyed, the people being buried in the ruins. The number of injured, which reaches into the hundreds, will never be accurately told. Nor can the awful horrors of the scene after the passage of the storm be described. Even yet the work of taking bodies from the ruins goes on and almost every day brings news of yet other destruction, distress and ruin.

The city of St. Louis has been heroically caring for her dead and her homeless ones. More than two thousand persons have lost their lives, it is said, by cyclones in the United States within the last two weeks.

Next Sunday at 10 o'clock a. m. there will be a Children's Day service at the Methodist church. The program will consist of music, recitations, etc. by the little ones. All are cordially invited.

Results Tell The Story.

A vast mass of direct unimpeachable testimony proves beyond any possibility of doubt that Hood's Sarsaparilla actually does perfectly and permanently cure diseases caused by impure blood. Its record of cures is unequalled and these cures have often been accomplished after all other preparations had failed.

Heart Disease Cured

By Dr. Miles' Heart Cure.

Fainting, Weak or Hungry Spells, Irregular or Interrupted Pulse, Flutters or Palpitations, Choking Sensation, Shortness of Breath, Swelling of Feet and Ankles, are symptoms of a diseased or Weak Heart.

MRS. N. C. MILLER.

Of Fort Wayne, Ind., writes on Nov. 24, 1894: "I was afflicted for forty years with heart trouble and suffered untold agony. I had weak, hungry spells, and my heart would palpitate so hard, the pain would be so acute and torturing, that I became so weak and nervous I could not sleep. I was treated by several physicians without relief and gave up everything well again. About two years ago I commenced using Dr. Miles' Heart Cure. One bottle of the Heart Cure stopped all heart troubles and the Restorative Nervine did the rest and now I sleep soundly and attend to my household and social duties without any trouble. Free Advice to Horse Owners

If your horse groans when urinating and the urine is thick and "milky" use no time in feeding a package of Dr. Daniel's Horse Renovator. It regulates the stomach and kidney, increases the weight 40 to 75 pounds in four weeks, and the horse acts and drives "fine as silk." Dr. Daniel's Renovator costs fifty cents, (more than some other so-called condition powders). Feed it and you will assert that it is cheaper, because it does what is claimed. Put up in doses. Sold only by J. R. Tipton. Ask for book free. 35-41

THE MOONSHINER OF FACT.

He is Vastly Different From the Wild Creature Fictitious.

He is neither a bandit nor a highwayman, a disturber of the peace, nor, in respect to felonies other than the revenue statutes, a law breaker. Least of all, perhaps, is he a desperado. Within a month of the present writing a traveler on one of the Tennessee railways entered the smoking car of the train. In the rear seat sat an officer in charge of a "covey" of moonshiners flushed by him on the mountain the night before. There were 12 in the party. They had yielded without resistance to one man, and, most singular circumstance of all in the south, the deputy had not found it necessary to put them in irons.

At their trial the members of this party will doubtless plead guilty to a man, though a little hard swearing would probably clear half of them. They will beg for mercy or for light sentences, and those of them who promise amendment will most likely never be again brought in on the same charge. For the moonshiner is prone to keep his promises.

A venerable judge, in whom judicial severity is tempered by a generous admixture of loving kindness and mercy, and whose humane decisions have made his name a word to conjure with among the dwellers in the waste places, tells a story which emphasizes the promise keeping trait in the mountain harpist. A hardened sinner of the stills, whose first and second offenses were already recorded against him, was once again brought to book by the vigilance of the revenue men. As an old offender, who had neither promised nor repented, it was likely to go hard with him, and he begged not for liberty, but for a commutation of his sentence which would send him to jail instead of the penitentiary, promising that so long as the judge remained upon the bench he would neither make nor meddle with illicit whiskey.

He won his case and was sent to jail for a term of 11 months. This was in summer, and six months later, when the first snow began to powder the bleak summits of Chilhowee, the judge received a letter from the convict. It was a simple, heartfelt petition for a "furlough" of ten days, pathetic and eloquent in its primitive English and quaint misspelling. Would the good judge let him out for ten days? Winter was coming on, and the wife and children were alone in the cabin on the mountain, with no one to make provision for their wants. He would be back in the time and he would "certain about" come back.

His petition was granted, and true to his word, the moonshiner returned on the tenth day and gave himself up to the sheriff. He served the remainder of his sentence, and after his release, kept his pledge so long as the judge remained on the bench.—Lippincott's.

One of the Evils of Wealth.

The family of one of the richest men in New York was visited not long ago by a contagious disease. A health inspector was obliged to go through the magnificent mansion on the Fifth avenue, and a pretty state of affairs, as he privately told his wife, he found there. "It almost makes one contented with the modest home," he declared. "I learned the knowledge that you and I are not too busy, nor too fashionable, nor too eager to look after our own household matters. There naturally everything is left to the hands of servants. They are supposed to be most competent, but they are only servants, after all, and not so deeply interested as the owner would be. Such a colossal waste of talent! I have seen a man stand outside of a tenement house in the slummiest slums. It was piled high with indescribable refuse and filth, rotting there and breeding inexpressible disaster and nuisance. It is a wonder that there is a sound life in that house. I tell you I made the mistress of that home pale with horror before I had finished my explanation of what was in my thoughts as to what efforts she might anticipate unless a new regime was inaugurated."—Philadelphia Press.

He Moved the Cattle.

Here is an incident in the life of Dr. Horber Evans, who, about 15 years ago, broke down in health, and was sent to Buxton with instructions from his medical adviser not to preach for 15 months. It seems that he had got so downcast at not being able to preach for such a prolonged period that he doubted his own power of ever again being of any use. In this frame of mind he went far away into the fields one fine Sunday morning and gave out an old Welsh hymn at the very top of his voice. Suddenly the sheep and cattle, which were quietly browsing by, looked up and ran to him from all parts of the field. He returned thanks to Providence that he still had the power at least of moving cattle and sheep, and from this point he regained confidence in himself, and his recovery was rapid.—London Globe.

Sunday Trading in the Past.

It may safely be asserted that from the time of the Concord (1066-1087) Sunday trading received much attention. In early ages markets and fairs were held on Sundays, and frequently in the churchyards. In 1208 the inhabitants of Crookham presented a petition to parliament, as their market was fast declining through the inhabitants of Crookham dealing in corn, flour, beans, flesh, fish, at their church on Sundays, and that thereby they were unable to pay their tithes to the king (Edward I.). An order was issued for closing the church market at Crookham.

At Bradford, Yorkshire, during the same reign, the market was held on a Sunday, doubtless in the churchyard. The toll yielded £2 per annum. In 1268 a statute was passed enjoining that henceforth neither fairs nor markets be held in churchyards, for the honor of the church.

In 1312 a market was granted to the town of Sedgely, Durham, to be held on a Friday, but was soon changed to Sunday.

In 1367 the archbishops of Canterbury and York delivered charges directing among other things, that "we firmly forbid any one to keep a market in the churches, the porches and the cemeteries thereunto belonging or other holy places on the Lord's day or other holy festivals."—Notes and Queries.

He Was Baptized Balthazar.

It was proved at a baptizing in Kentucky that it is well to go well prepared if you are to be baptized, says the Albany (Ky.) Courier. A citizen who was immersed can testify to this effect. This gentleman had long intended to be baptized, but it took him a long time to make up his mind. At last, however, he came to a decision, and the minister led him into the pool. So far so well. The trouble commenced as soon as the minister tried to put the citizen's head under the water. The citizen apparently did not object to standing in the water up to his ears, but further, or rather deeper, he did not wish to go. Finally, as a last resort, the minister placed his hand on his head and began to bow down. As he did so the citizen's massive hair slipped from his head and the minister found himself standing with a wig in his hand, while the bald head loomed up conspicuously. After this there was no trouble getting the head under the water. The citizen had always carefully concealed the fact that he was bald, and when he was found out he went under the water so willingly, and stated so calmly, that the spectators became frightened. He was taken out very much ashamed of himself.

Mrs. Radcliffe's Successor.

Maturin, the author of "Montorio," who died in 1834, was perhaps the purest representative of the old-fashioned virtues of Mrs. Radcliffe. His appearance and his character write the epitaph of the extinction of the school to which he belonged. When engaged in composition, he placed a black wafer on the center of his forehead as a sign that he must not be interrupted. Often in pecuniary difficulties, he once borrowed £30 of Lady Morgan. He spent the money on a vacation to which he invited all his friends. At the end of a large, empty, hired room was placed a dais surmounted by a crimson canopy, under which sat Mrs. Maturin. Bewick, who visited him at Dublin in the early part of the present century, has left a graphic picture of his appearance. He found Maturin dressed to receive him, "wearing his dinner room in elegant full dress, a splendidly bound book laid open upon a canbrie pocket handkerchief placed round the edges, and accented with one dark collar—under the open both hands; a stylish new black wig curled over his temples, his shirt collar reaching half way up his face, and his attenuated cheeks rounded up to the very eyes."—Quarterly Review.

This Boy Will Watch Watering.

There is a boy in Bradford who should rival Lord Russell of Killowen as a cross examiner when he grows up. In the police court there he and four others were charged with stone throwing. He and the others examined the constables. "How many windows did you say were broken?" "Four." "And how many stones did you find inside?" "Three."

"But how can you charge five boys with breaking four windows with three stones?" "Given boys, stones, and windows, almost anything might happen, but the query puzzled the policeman and the boys got off.—London Tit-Bits.

She Knew.

"Maria," said Boggles to his wife, with an idea of instructing her in political economy, "do you know what civil service?" "Yes," replied Mrs. Boggles, with memory of recent contact with the cook, "there isn't any."—Illustrated Monthly.

HER IDEAL MALE MATE.

Elizabeth Bland's Description of the National Standard. There is a theory that the patient, unassuming financial agent who is supposed to typify the genus husband in America—who, like charity, sufereth long and is kind, thinketh no evil, and giveth all his goods—is no such thing, but that this is a slander. The dull submission of the overladen ass is not the quality which ordinarily excites feminine respect.

That brilliant, greedy figure, hung with jewels, who stands aloft in the social car, laying the good upon the bowed shoulders of his humble, overworked, married slave who bows her chariot, is purely a figment evolved out of the notebooks of shallow foreigners rushing express through the country to make a volume of travels.

In reality the American husband is the most exacting of his kind. He demands, gaiety, physical and mental charm, a high cultivation of all her powers, and an infinity of carefully performed duties from his wife.

If the American woman is brilliant and ornamental it is because the American husband will put up with nothing less. In older civilizations woman finds in married life all the conditions prepared for her; rules made which she has only to obey; a careful code of precedents which she has only to follow.

Here a woman may be within a period of seven days transported from a country boarding school to the most conspicuous position in the land, and without previous training be called upon to receive ambassadors and preside at state dinners.

The husband who elevates his wife from the washbasin in a mining camp to the palace of a millionaire expects her to create out of the chaos of her previous experiences an ordered social world between the morning and the evening of her first day of wealth—and she does it and likes it, and loudly proclaims that this existing creature is the most delightful example of husband known.

Curiously enough, the real person is as unlike as possible to the generally accepted picture of the typical American husband, with his narrow, solid, bank clerk soul, his neglected mind and his cynical estimate of woman as a fantastic child with an innocent lust for injury.

Perhaps the typical husbands of other nations have been as much belied, and the Frenchman is not the sensualist who thrusts the woman's pretty ankles from her arms into alien hands in order that her actions may not for a moment be distracted from himself or her labors diverted from his business.

Perhaps the German wife is not really unkind, contemptuous, treated upper servant or the English woman the victim of a selfish, dominating master. At all events, but few women find all the unpleasing characteristics of the type combined in their individual specimens of the national husband.—Elizabeth Bland in North American Review.

Crest of the Earth.

The crust of the earth, according to Professor John Milne's opinion, is in a constant state of agitation—earth movements being experienced at all times and in all lands. The great European crust agitation having its seat in Germany, Japan occupying a similar position in Asia, in both Germany and Japan a tidal movement too great to be produced by lunar attractions has been observed, the ground being gently lifted every 24 hours and sometimes twice, and in all cases the buildings, trees, etc., stand slightly inclined, like cornstalks in a gentle and steady breeze—in short, the earth is constantly breathing, as it were, the crust making each respiration by a gentle rising and falling, similar to that of the chest in air breathing animals. A certain per cent of this earth crust disturbance is believed to be due to conditions similar to those which bring about earthquakes, the latter being regarded as especially the fact in respect to Japan, where it has been traced to the continual opening and closing of the broken struts in the main range of the mountains.

Get Them Tender.

It was one of Platt Evans' pleasures to teach his friends how to purchase tender geese, though he could never get them in his market. One morning he saw a lot and inquired how many there were. "About a dozen," was the reply. "W-w-well," said Platt, "I'll keep a b-b-better house, and my b-b-b-borders are the biggest eaters ever saw s-s-s. P-p-pick out n-nine of the t-t-toughest you've g-got."

The farmer complied and laid aside the other three tender ones. Platt picked them out carefully, and, putting them in his basket, said, "I b-b-b-better I'll take these three."—San Francisco Argonaut.

NEW CARPETS.

We have laid our lines to do the Carpet Business of the town, and with the equipment we have, we ought to do it.

Ingrain Carpets

All wool and a yard wide. The best extra super, not antiquated or side-tracked pattern among them. All clean, quiet, without lists that won't show dust, and they turn well.

New Tapestry Brussels.

The Best 16-wide kind, of course. No better medium-priced carpet made. Got a new set of hall and stair patterns among them. They've got the look and wear in them; you all know the quality, now come in and get the price.

The New Mattings.

Some jointless, some cord-warp, some plain, some fancy, and all good. They're made of good, live straw, they're flexible and don't wear out like the poorer, dried-out sort. What a cool, cleanly, comfortable floor covering they are, to be sure; and so cheap, too, as to sell them.

We make a strong bid for your business in these important items, and are prepared to serve you to your entire satisfaction.

"At the age of 15 I commenced to ruin my health. Later on as "ONE OF THE BOYS" I contracted a serious blood disease
—SYPHILIS. I was weak and nervous, despondent, pimples, swollen eyes, bone aches, chills, hair loss, sore throat and much, much in urine, varicocele—I was a wreck. I was in the last stages when a friend recommended Dr. Kennedy's treatment. A dozen other doctors had failed in curing me. Dr. Kennedy & Kegan cured me in a few weeks by their Method Treatment. I would now willingly dissolve men to honors of Medical Friends.
There are reliable honest and skillful

Louisville Tobacco Market.

Sales on our market for the week just closed amount to 1880 hhds., with receipts for the same period 1871 hhds.
Sales on our market since January 1, amount to 76,136 hhds. Sales of the crop of 1895 on our market to this date amount to 72,677 hhds.

The volume of business on our market this week has shown some increase in both receipts and sales and the general tone of the market has been better for all grades of burley tobacco but are not able to report any decided advance in prices. The setting of the crop is unusually far advance for the time of year and we would estimate that something like 85 per cent. of the intended crop is now on the hill in exceptionally fine condition and with an unusually fine stand.

The following quotations fairly represent our market for burley tobacco 1895 crop.

Trash. (Dark or damaged tobacco)
$1.00 to $1.50.

Common colory trash, $2.00 to $4.00

Medium to good colory trash, $4.00
to $6.00.

Common lugs, not colory, $2.00 to $4.00.

Common colory lugs, $4.50 to $7.00.

Medium to good colory lugs, $7.00
to $9.00.

Common to medium leaf $5.00 to $8.00.

Medium to good leaf, $8.00 to $15.

Good to fine leaf, $15 to $18.

Select wrappery leaf, $18 to $22.00.

The above quotations are not applicable to green and frosted crops.

GLOVER & DUBRETT.

Marvelous Results.

From a letter written by Rev. J.
Gunderman, of Dimondia, Mich., we are permitted to make this extract:
"I have no hesitation in recommending Dr. King's New Discovery, as the result is most marvelous in the case of my wife. While I was pastor of the Baptist Church at Rivers Junction she was brought down with Pneumonia succeeding La Grippe.
Terrible prostrations of coughing would last hours with but little interruption and it seemed as if she could not survive them. A friend recommended Dr.
King's New Discovery; it was quick in its work and highly satisfactory in results." Trial bottles free at W. S.
Lloyd's drug store. Regular size 50c, and $1.00.

The fine rains that have fallen in this county during the last two weeks have done almost as much to put the farmers in good humor as did the overwhelming majority for Free

Dr. E. P. Bender,

WILL VISIT MT. STERLING AT
* COMMERCIAL HOTEL, *
Monday, June 1st.
Remaining until SATURDAY, JUNE 6, inclusive.

Dr. Bender has been connected with some of the largest Dental Colleges and Institutions in this country, and has no superior in his profession. He is prepared to extract, crown and fill teeth without pain, and without the use of gas, cocaine, chloroform, ether, electricity, or any sleep-producing agents, but by a method invented by Dr. Bender, and used only by himself, who is the easiest, quickest and best painless extractor in the United States to-day—so acknowledged by the dental profession at large. Where he causes pain in operation makes no charge.

Teeth Extracted Free of Charge Without Pain between the Hours of 8:30 and 9:30 Each Day.

Teeth $5.00, Teeth $8.00, Teeth $10.

Teeth Extracted Free of Charge when Plates are Ordered. Fillings with All Kinds of Materials and Without Pain and at Reasonable Cost.

Many symptoms of catarrh, headache, carache, indigestion, dyspepsia, etc., are the result of decayed teeth and roots of teeth. To be cured of these aches and pains one must commence at the origin, which are the teeth and gums, which is only cured by the skillful treatment of a dentist. Those who are of a nervous and delicate condition can come and have teeth extracted and filled and feel as calm as if they had no work performed.

Dr. Bender guarantees all work and does as the advertisers. Come early and avoid the rush, as his rooms are always crowded. Office hours 9 a. m. to 6 p. m. each day. Free hours, 8:30 to 9:30 each day.

Electric Bitters

Electric Bitters is a medicine suited for any season, but perhaps more generally needed in the spring, when the languid exhausted feeling prevails, when the liver is torpid and sluggish and the need of tonic and alterative is felt. A prompt use of this medicine has often averted long and perhaps fatal bilious fevers. No medicine will act more surely in counteracting and freeing the system from the malarial poison. Headache, indigestion, constipation, dizziness yield to Electric Bitters. Only fifty cents per bottle at W. S. Lloyd's drugstore.

The Poor Dog Went to the Almshouse.

An incident which would seem to prove that a dog learns to understand the language of his country was related by one willing to vouch for its truth. And this is the story: A dog had come to be very old in a family in a country village. One of the family remarked on a certain day, as the dog lay in the room: "I think Sancho ought to be put out of the way. He is only a nuisance now."

That afternoon Sancho disappeared, and as the days passed did not return. In the course of a week a neighbor said, "I see that your dog is up at the poorhouse!" On inquiry it was learned that Sancho, having called at the poorhouse and been kindly received, had continued on as a guest. And over and over, although he sometimes made a brief call at his old home, he lived at the town farm, and there peacefully ended his dog's life.—Philadelphia American.

He Could Light His Breath.

There are but few cases on record, even in the dusty tomes of the philosophical societies, the medical institutions and the museums, of men who could exhale from their lungs which was so highly charged with carbon as to be inflammable. One of these was a Michigan (?) negro, which the writer hereof remembers reading about 15 or 20 years ago. Another freak who could light his breath was William Jackson of Fayetteville, N. Y., and later of Middlebury, Vt. Jackson accidentally learned of the indammable character of the air exhaled from his lungs in 1857, and the discovery is said to have almost frightened him to death. After making his startling discovery Mr. Jackson went quietly to bed and did not inform any one of the occurrence until he visited the leading Fayetteville physician, Dr. T. E. Quinby, early next morning. Later he consulted Professor William M. Smith, a chemist of the Syracuse Medical college, and from him it was learned that a similar case was reported from Italy in 1874. It was the general opinion that the indammable gas came from an overplus of carbon in the blood, but Professor Smith proved that it came from the stomach, Jackson being afflicted with a very peculiar form of dyspepsia.

The Michigan negro referred to above did not have to "light his breath," as Mr. Jackson did, but could "free" paper, shavings, etc., by merely blowing upon them. What finally became of these "men with breath of flame" I cannot say.—St. Louis Republic.

A New French Heroine.

The French have discovered a new heroine, whose name they unfortunately do not know. In the terrible year when the German army was approaching Champagne, a young woman in mourning arrived in the town and took up her quarters in a house about half a mile from the chateau, where Bismarck was lodged. Every morning and every evening she went out with her gun, and in three days her bag amounted to six German sentries. Then she was taken by the enemy, but at once released. Three more Germans fell to her rifle, and then once more she was seized. But the money of the enemy was great, and she was once more set at liberty. But the sport was too good to be given up, and her expeditions continued until even the enemy thought the thing had gone far enough. So the next time they caught her they put her up against a wall and laid daylight through her unquarrelled breast. This story is quite true, and according to a certain M. Darmont, who was 10 years old at the time, says so. He has written some very bad verses about her, which were recited at the celebration of the twenty-fifth anniversary of the glorious battle of Champagne and were most warmly applauded. Besides he can show you the wall against which the ruffian soldiers put her up, and the bricks are in it to this day. Therefore, sis, die if not. But it is a pity that only one man knew her name and that he is dead.—London Requin.

Fate of the Canal of the Two Oceans.

Givora slipped by almost unnoticed. A trim little town hung out to sun in long strips upon terraces ascending from the water side, its walls and tiled roofs rising above gardens and so making a general effect of warm gray and yellow dashed with vivid greens. It is a town of some commercial pretensions, the gateway of a canal a dozen miles long leading up through the valley of the little river Gler to iron works and coke works and glass works tucked away in the hills. The canal was projected almost a century and a half ago as a connecting link between the Rhone and the Loire and so between the Atlantic and the Mediterranean. Therefore the canal of the Two Oceans was, and I suppose continues to be, its high sounding name. But the revolution came, and the digging never extended beyond that first dozen miles, and so it came to pass that the canal of the Two Oceans, as such, is a delusion, and that the golden future which once lay ahead of Givora now lies a long way asunder. Yet the town has an easy and contented look, as though it had saved enough from the wreck of its magnificent destiny to leave it still comfortably full to do.—Thomas A. Janvier in Century.

A Lamb as a City Pet.

Early pedestrians in Fourth avenue were somewhat surprised the other day to see a man turn into the avenue from Thirtieth street, followed by a well grown and thickly fleeced lamb. The man walked rapidly down the street, the lamb trotted along beside him, wagging its tail from time to time at a glance from its master. A block below the point where the strange companions had first appeared the man disappeared down an area and into a basement door. The lamb, with a moment's hesitation, skipped nimbly down the steps and disappeared along with its master.—New York Sun.

A woman's head aches may come from various causes. She may have a cold, or be suffering from nervousness, or from indigestion, or from a headache. Just the same as a man might suffer from the same reasons. Nine cases in ten, however, her headache comes from a disorder of her sex. Possibly the apparent cause of the headache will be from a cold, or from a fever, while the cause of this is not thought of. The organs distinctly feminine are more vital than any other organs in the woman's body. Any trouble of these organs is a source of trouble to the woman. The symptoms which are characteristic of a disorder of the female system are, in the first place, a headache, which has been treated for the disorder thought to be indicated by these symptoms, when the real trouble was much deeper and more serious. Dr. Pierce's Female Prescriptions for relieving womankind of the ill and pain very commonly considered the uncomfortable inheritance of her sex. It cures where really good physicians have failed. Thousands of women have testified that after taking treatment from several physicians without benefit, the "Favorite Prescription" cured them completely and quickly. It has been used for over thirty years, and has not a single record of failure. The afflicted woman will find immediate relief and ultimate cure in the "Favorite Prescription." There is nothing about it—there is no question about it. The woman who is afflicted is invited to send a self-addressed envelope to the publisher of this copy, to the extent of the cost of mailing a copy of Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser. This circularized copy contains full information about Dr. Pierce's medicine, and also contains photographs of hundreds of people who have been cured by this medicine, and their names, also giving their names and addresses, besides plain, clear information about all of the organs of the female system, and their functions. It has reached the highest standard of excellence, and is a standard work. This copy, thus the expense of preparation has been defrayed, and now 50,000 copies will be absolutely given away. The only condition is that the book is not a mere advertising sheet, but a genuine standard work of 300 large pages, over 300 illustrations, some of them in color. Address, The Western Medical Association, Buffalo, N.Y.

A BUFFALO STAMPEDE.

English. Military Chronicle.

The London Chronicle published a story of military red tape which will bear comparison with the best of stories. I do not know what higher praise I can give it. A sergeant and his men were sent to a lance corporal in a line regiment were damaged by a bear of red tape. A lance corporal in a line regiment were damaged by a bear of red tape. A lance corporal in a line regiment were damaged by a bear of red tape.

I carried a short, thick barreled buffalo gun—it was before the days of breechloaders—which threw an ounce and a half sling. I aimed at a bull some 50 feet away, who offered a broadside shot in his pawing. The heavy ball knocked him off his feet, and the next moment he was at the last gasp.

The chief also fired his rifle, with what effect I did not see, for our shots did not startle even the nearest animals, so great was the noise of their own hooves and so thick the cloud of dust they had raised. A mad craze seemed suddenly to have possessed the whole herd, for a great crowd had pressed down out of the ravine, and hundreds were plunging down the bluff. The situation had suddenly become startling and dangerous.

The chief in alarm sprang to his feet and threw the wolfskin from his head. I did the same. He had evidently come upon something of the kind, and was frightened them off by our first shots.

Instead a tumbling mass of them had gathered about the animal which I had shot, and excited to greater frenzy than ever by the smell of blood, were filling the air with hoarse, deep, graving roars, which made the ground tremble under us.

The dust from the multiplying numbers which I saw with alarm, set me into a paroxysm of sneezing and coughing in spite of my intense alarm. It now enveloped us in so thick a cloud that we could practically see nothing. Suddenly the chief seized me by the arm. "Come," he said, "we go quick!" and he started at a run. We dodged hither and thither to get out of the way of plunging, bawling animals, many of which lunged past within arm's reach.

The dust had grown continuously thicker, and my eyes, filled with the snarling animal, failed me utterly before we had run 50 yards. I was again seized by a violent fit of coughing and sneezing.

I shouted to Little Bear between my coughings that I could not see. He answered only, "We go quick!" and, keeping a tight grip upon my arm, jerked me this way and that as we rushed ahead.

But, active and powerful as he was, he could not save me in my blindness from collision. I was hit by one of the huge animals and knocked over. The creature struck me on the left side, and I was wrenched from the chief's grasp and sent rolling over and over in the dust. In fact, I was knocked breathless, half stunned, and could not see a thing of my own accord. I should have been run over and crushed but for the chief. As it was I just had sense enough to know that I was jerked from the ground, tossed upward and borne forward upon his shoulders.

Here I was a deer, carrying me as if I had been a papoose, jumping and dodging this way and that among the throng of animals, whose rumbling tread sounded in my ears like the noise of a great storm. Twice he went in and out of the crowd, and we both measured our full lengths, but he was on his feet again in an instant, and lifting me as before, darted ahead, seemingly untroubled. How he managed to keep his eyesight and his bearings in that choking cloud and among that excited mass of animals is and always will be a mystery to me.

But he did it.

He carried me out of that howling, crazy crowd of animals, and set me upon my feet upon the hill above them, giving utterance to a huge grunt of satisfaction when he thought that I could stand.—Frank Welles Calkins in St. Nicholas.

Paganini's Violin.

Paganini came by his favorite violin a curious way. A French merchant lent him the instrument to play upon at a concert at Leghorn. After the concert Paganini brought it back to its owner, when the latter exclaimed to the delighted astonishment of the players: "Never more will I profane the strings which your fingers have touched. That instrument is yours."

At the Reception.

"Our hostess reminds me of an air pump."
"What part of it, pray?"
"The exhausted receiver, of course!"—New York Tribune.

WOMEN WHO FASCINATE WOMEN.

Tragic Revels That Have Followed in Some Modern Instances.

Cases of the unnatural influence which women have exercised over women are not uncommon. The most noted instance of that kind was in the case of Miss Alice Mitchell of Memphis. Miss Mitchell's father was a merchant of wealth and she lived in great refinement in the fashionable part of the city. She was frequently visited by Miss Freda Ward of Gold Dust, Ark., and the pair seemed to be inseparable. One day in January, 1892, however, Miss Mitchell was driving through the streets with a friend when she met Miss Ward. She jumped from the carriage suddenly and without a word cut Miss Ward's throat. The poor girl fell to the sidewalk and died while being taken to a hospital.

No one could understand the motive for the deed. Miss Mitchell told various stories, one of which was that she killed Miss Ward because she had circulated scandals about her. Finally she made a statement which she adhered to, in which she said:

"I killed Freda because I loved her and she refused to marry me. I asked her to marry me three times, but she refused. I was going to go to St. Louis. When Freda promised to marry me, I was so happy. I sent her an engagement ring and she wore it for a time, but when it was returned to me I was miserable. I could not bear to be separated from her, so I resolved to kill her. I would rather she were dead than away from me."

Miss Mitchell was tried for murder in July, 1892, and on being adjudged insane was sent to an asylum.

A peculiar case lay in the infatuation which Miss Margaret Messmore of Los Angeles had for Miss Grace Millmore of Savannah. Both girls were of good families and were exceedingly pretty. In 1893 they roomed together in Chicago, where they were studying music. The parents became alarmed at the friendship which existed between them, and Miss Millmore was induced to return home. She left her trunk containing many valuable articles with her friend, who refused to give it up. "Grace is my husband," said Miss Messmore, "why should I give her things to her family?" Miss Messmore was finally taken back to Los Angeles almost by force. Mrs. Alma Erhardt's love for Mrs. Charlotte Goehling of Newark caused her to be sent to an insane asylum in January, 1894. At the trial Mrs. Goehling produced a letter from Mrs. Erhardt, which contained a distinct proposal of marriage. Another letter urged her to kill her two children. Mrs. Erhardt was a prominent minister of Smithfield, N.Y., was arrested in September, 1893, for enticing Mrs. Alice Tauris away from her husband. The case never came to trial.—New York Herald.

Medieval Outbursts.

The energies which in our own day find vent in a half dozen forms of athletic exercise had in the thirteenth century hardly more than the single outlet of fighting. Men talked of war and sang of it, and the close of the thirteenth century was a period when a succession of fortunate expeditions and a soldier's life had made men's thoughts more strongly than usual upon the popular topic. The prevailing tone of society must have acted upon the immature lads at Oxford crowded up in the narrow streets of a medieval city, wretched and practically without books, much as the cheap romances of our own day are believed to affect the office boy.

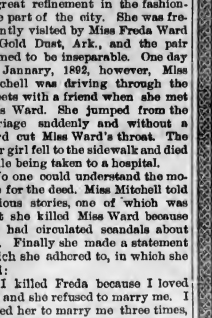

There were plenty of romances in the thirteenth century, of course, who were able and willing to help the militant student to add practice to theory, and when we recollect that there were no better police than half a dozen Dagberries, that the city was unlighted and that even had we armed, one no longer has cause to wonder at the insecurity of life in Oxford 600 years ago.—Macmillan's Magazine.

Napoleon in the Russian Campaign.

Around the campfires there was, during the remaining months of winter, a passive endurance, mingled with some murmuring and the horrors caused by one man's ambition. The emperor set his men an example of uncomplaining cheerfulness. His health continued as exuberant as it had been for the year past, and his activity, though no longer feverish, lost nothing of its intensity. Savary thought he outdid himself, accomplishing in one month what elsewhere would have been, even for him, the work of three. Mme. de Rostoff remembered to have heard him say that he felt better during those months than ever before or after. This vigor of body, combined with the same from determination as of old, did indeed work miracles, and this in spite of the fact that his indigestible secretary, Marek, was long at the point of death.—"Life of Napoleon" in Century.

Montgomery County Joins the Silver Column and Votes For 16 to 1.

In Saturday's Conventions the cause of the Bimetallists won a sweeping victory in Kentucky. So signal is the victory that it is doubtful if the most sanguine among the Free Silver leaders expected so much. The campaign has been a vigorous one. The advocates of the single standard have done their best. The State has been flooded with literature setting forth the merits of the controversy. The press by overwhelming odds has been most industriously engaged in advocating the single standard policy. The best speakers that could be procured have been presenting the facts, as they saw them, to the people. (Very true the silver advocates have not been idle, but in nearly all these things the odds were against them.) Yet in spite of all, the people have won their victory by most overwhelming majorities.

Kentucky has been the recognized battle ground, and the white metal wins, and the indications most plainly point to the control of the Chicago Convention by a very decisive majority.

Silver carried every county in the Second, Third and Fourth districts, and the Gold people carried the Fifth or Louisville district solid.

The County.

The Democratic Mass Convention of the county met on Saturday afternoon, May 30, pursuant to the call of the State Committee. County Chairman, H. R. French called the Convention to order and stated that representatives from both wings of the party had agreed upon a few preliminaries in order that the business of the Convention might be advanced with greater dispatch and in a more harmonious manner. This announcement was received with evident satisfaction by all parties.

The Chair recognized Col. A. W. Hamilton who nominated Mr. A. A. Hazelrigg for permanent chairman and W. A. Dellavane was also unanimously chosen Secretary of the Convention. All this was in accordance to the agreement entered into before the meeting of the Convention. Mr. Hazelrigg, upon taking the chair, made a happy and most appropriate speech complimenting the Convention upon the spirit of fairness and harmony evident in the ranks of both wings of the party. Judge L. Apperson introduced a resolution instructing the delegates who were to be selected to cast their votes for Judge H. R. French for District Delegate and to use all honorable means to secure his selection. Col. A. W. Hamilton introduced a substitute for Judge Apperson's resolution a set of resolutions given below. Judge Apperson made the point of order that these (the Hamilton) resolutions were not in order because they were not germane to the matter before the Convention. The Chair promptly decided the point of order not well taken. Judge A. appealed from the decision of the Chair and a vote being taken a division was called for. But at this point it was plainly evident that such a course could only result in confusion, and since both sides wanted a fair and honest expression, Judge Apperson asked and was granted leave to withdraw not only his appeal from the decision of the Chair, but also his original resolution, leaving those introduced by Col. Hamilton as the original motion. The resolutions introduced by Col. Hamilton were as follows:

"Resolved, By the Democrats of Montgomery County, Ky., in mass convention assembled, this, the 30th day of May, 1896: First, that we hereby affirm as a deliberate conviction of this Convention that the Act of 1873 in so far as it demonized silver and established gold as a single unit of value, is aagrant violation of one of the most important provisions of the constitution of the United States, a violation which every political party ought to condemn and every good citizen should assent in expunging from the statutes of the Republic. We therefore favor the repeal of all laws by which silver was demonized and demand its unequal restoration to the right of free and unlimited coinage in the limits of the United States as money of final redemption at the old ratio of 16 to 1. Second, that S. S. Priest, J. T. Highland, C. C. Turner, Will S. Shront, Elijah Coons, J. Davis Sewell, Judge M. M. Casady, A. W. Hamilton, Richard Hunt, C. P. Chennett, J. C. B. Duff, Ebert Coons, G. E. Chick, Joe Scott, B. R. Turner, M. A. Scott, James Shront, Dr. W. T. Smarr, J. C. B. Gillpie, H. L. Maxey, Ratus Hadden, Albert Bridge, R. M. Burbridge, I. N. Green, W. B. O'Connell, Frank Thompson, Asa Bean, Squire Turner, Harvey Green, Earnest Gillispie, W. T. Fitzpatrick, G. E. Coleman, J. K. Johnson, J. P. King, Allen McCormick, W. S. Turner, J. Langston, Col. Thos. Johnson, Judge B. J. Peters, Gen. John S. Williams and A. A. Hazelrigg be, and the same are hereby appointed delegates to represent this Montgomery county, in the State Convention to be held in Lexington, Ky., on June 3rd, 1896, and in the absence of any of the named delegates, those present at the Convention shall have and are hereby given the power to act fully for the whole number. Third, that said delegates be are hereby instructed to vote as a unit on all questions arising in said Lexington Convention, and to use all honorable means to secure the election of delegates to the National Convention who shall be unalterably pledged to the re-monetization of silver in accordance with the above first named resolution."

Mr. John G. Winn then moved as a substitute the following: "The Democracy of Montgomery county in Convention Assembled, declare that we are opposed to any contraction of the currency. We hold to the use of both gold and silver as the STANDARD MONEY of the country, and to the coinage of both gold and silver without discrimination against either metal, the dollar unit of both metals to be of equal intrinsic and exchangeable value, or be adjusted by such safe guards of legislation as shall insure the equal power of every dollar at all times in the markets and in the payment of debts."

"Resolved, That Thos. H. Grubbs, Judson, McDaniel, J. D. Gay, John W. Montjoy, R. C. Gatewood, E. F. Cockrell, J. Davis Reid, John C. Richardson, Walter Chennett, W. F. Horton, C. D. Grubbs, H. K. Oldham, A. B. Ratliff, John G. Winn, John M. Elliott, R. C. Kern, Col. J. S. Hart, R. H. Winn, J. M. Oliver, Jr., N. H. Trimble, T. W. Barrow, L. C. Riddle, C. R. Prewitt, W. B. White, W. R. Dean, Lewis Apperson, H. R. Bright, John A. Judy, A. S. Johnson, H. B. Kinsolving, W. A. Tanner, J. W. Phillips, C. R. Harris, W. S. Lloyd, James F. Mason, W. T. Havens and R. A. Chiles, be and they are hereby appointed delegates to attend the Democratic Convention which assembles in Lexington, Ky., on June 3rd, 1896, and such of them as may be in attendance, shall have the right to cast the entire vote of this county in said Convention."

The motion being put and a vote taken it was not possible for the Chair to determine the result and a division was called for. Tellers were appointed, but before the count had progressed very far, the single standard men gave up the fight and conceded the result to the free silver people. The Chair, therefore, declared the original motion adopted. Still further in the interest of harmony a resolution was introduced declaring it the sense of the Convention that the delegates shall stand instructed in case the majority of the delegates in the Tenth District shall be for the single standard, to vote for Judge H. R. French for District Delegate to the Chicago Convention, and to use all honorable means to secure his election; but should the majority of the delegates be in favor of free silver, then the delegates from this county shall present the name of A. W. Hamilton for District Delegate, and shall for him use all honorable means to secure his selection.

The Convention then adjourned.

Rah for McCready!—He is a Democrat.

Richmond, Ky., May 31.—Congressman McCready returned from Washington last night and viewed with alarm the wreckage wrought in his district by silver and the people. He takes the dearest good natured, and says he will abide by the result and shall fight unflinchingly for the Chicago nominee, who, at this time, it appears, will stand on a silver platform. He will return to Washington after the State Convention.

The things that people see are inside of them and not outside. No two people see the same thing exactly alike. One woman may look out at a beautiful landscape and see all the beauty and restfulness and grandness that there is in it. Another one will look at the same scene and see nothing. The man who is perfectly well and vigorous enjoys life to the full. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery makes people well. There isn't anything miraculous about it—it is the most natural thing in the world. It simply puts the digestive organs, the stomach, the liver, the bowels, in perfect order and thereby makes the blood pure and rich. All diseases live and thrive on impure blood. Keep a stream of pure rich blood flowing into a diseased spot, and the disease will not stay. A man lives on rich, pure blood, and disease dies on it. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery makes pure rich blood. Send 21 cents in one-cent stamps to World's Dispensary Medical Association, Buffalo, N. Mr. A. A. Hazelrigg presided with ease and firmness at the convention on Saturday. He had the largest convention that probably ever assembled in the county to control, but he showed himself fully equal to the task. From the moment he took the stand it was evident that both sides had confidence in not only his ability but his determination to do what was absolutely fair to all parties. His speech on taking the stand was replete with sound advice and the genuine ring to it caught the ear of the immense throng. Much of the credit, it is due to Mr. Hazelrigg for the spirit of harmony exhibited in the convention.
